Plus to the possibilities already introduced into practice, the system incorporated a new element of a direct monthly action - the aim being to evaluate in a special way some distinguished efforts and an input of any and every of the member of the company.

Unlike choosing the Manager of the year when the company Director makes his own decision on a relevant award, an Employee of the month is being selected by voting by the four company Directors.

«An objective evaluation of the input of every employee forms the basis of a longterm relationship, which is highly valued in the company».
